Dear Director Wheeler,

Many of us in the Santa Fe community have extensive professional experience as engineers, project managers, scientists, or a combination of these. We know how to read project specifications, we know what to look for in them, and – for those of us who have sat on project review boards – know how to recognize when we are being snowed. The written project specifications that Public Works is applying to the evaluation of luminaire products are what we are looking for. These must exist if Public Works is applying them to the evaluation of luminaire products. Please provide these.

Sincerely,

Good morning Mr. Finn,

The package of specs is getting very close to ready to release to post on the project website and provide to you. We're being very careful to be thorough and correct in the information we're providing. The team has done great work over the last 2 months evaluating additional fixtures that meet our goal of being a dark sky community while meeting regulations and project specs.

Coming soon!
Regina
